Product Overview

The Excel Audio Visual outlets provide a comprehensive range of options for both the residential installation as well as the commercial office environment. The range includes both fly lead versions mounted into euromod size plates for use with the Excel Office range as well as keystone outlet versions for use within panels or other faceplate options.

The fly lead versions have short lengths of the requisite cable and are designed to provide flexible mounting options within restricted depth back boxes. These are manufactured to the highest quality and are covered by the 25 year product warranty when installed as part of an Excel solution by an accredited partner. The keystone version of each outlet is ideal for single mounting in other manufacturers faceplates as well as panel mounting within the central 'Hub' location.
